

Contact: Cathleen Brady
Senior Manager, Children's Publicity
Phone: 415/537-4252
cathleen_brady@chroniclebooks.com
www.chroniclekids.com

BOYOLOGY

A Teen Girl's Crash Course In All Things Boy

Relationships with boys are tricky—especially for teen girls who are still figuring out who they are themselves. How do teen girls drum up the confidence to talk to a guy when the teenage years are fraught with self-doubt? Is it really possible to just be friends with a boy without any weirdness? What's a girl to do when she likes a guy more than a friend and isn't sure he feels the same? And most of all, how can girls deal with all of this and still stay true to themselves? BOYOLOGY: A Teen Girl's Crash Course in All Things Boy (May 2009) by How to Raise Your Parents author Sarah Burningham, has the answers to these questions and the other dramas that are teen relationships.

BOYOLOGY delves into the mysteries of teen guys, dissecting flirting tactics, offering dating suggestions, and providing tips on forming solid friendships with guys. From "a few things to remember when text flirting" to a math formula to figure out how long it will take to get over him, this is an up-close-and-personal look at everything a girl has ever needed to know about dating. Parents will appreciate that the author handles discussions about kissing and beyond with grace and tact. Most importantly, Sarah empowers her readers to make smart choices on their own terms. The author shares her own experiences, peppers pages with fun celebrity quotes, and most importantly includes comments from real teenagers—through a tremendous amount of research and polling via her own MySpace page—on everything from first dates to breakups.

With a fresh new look and a pitch-perfect voice, BOYOLOGY is a must-have for teens who are already dating as well as girls who might want to know what they're in for.

Some of the basics Sarah includes are:

- B-O-Y basics
- Determining which "breed" of boy you're dealing with
- Figuring out first dates and the rest of the dating game
- Setting your boundaries
- Outside forces: friends, parents, and other factors
- Boy friend vs. boyfriend (there is a MAJOR difference!)
- Breaking up, getting back in the game, and much more

Each page is jam-packed with sensible advice that teens can use in their everyday lives. Figuring out teen boys may seem daunting, but with the help of BOYOLOGY, girls will feel as confident as they should be.

Sarah O'Leary Burningham is the author of How to Raise Your Parents and has thousands of teen friends on MySpace, a regular blog, and is still a teenager at heart. She lives and works in New York. For more information, check out www.sarahburningham.com.

About Chronicle Books

One of the most admired and respected publishing companies in the U.S., Chronicle Books was founded in 1967 and over the years has developed a reputation for award-winning, innovative books. Recognized as one of the 50 best small companies to work for in the U.S. (and the only independent publisher to receive this award), the company continues to challenge conventional publishing wisdom, setting trends in both subject and format, maintaining a list that includes illustrated titles in design, art, architecture, photography, food, lifestyle and pop culture, as well as much-admired books for children and ancillary products through its gift division. Chronicle Books' objective is to create and distribute exceptional publishing that's instantly recognizable for its spirit, creativity, and value. For more information about Chronicle Books, visit www.chroniclekids.com.

BOYOLOGY: A Teen Girl's Crash Course in All Things Boy

by Sarah O'Leary Burningham

illustrated by Keri Smith

ISBN: 978-08118-6436-7

Price: $12.99, Ages 13 and up

Publication Date: May 2009